Dayton Film Permit

The new Dayton Film Permit is designed to help make it easier to complete a film project in Dayton. The Film Permit provides an easy-to-use checklist and referral system for obtaining any additional permits you may need. The FAST team will expedite the permit process and provide information about the City.

The Dayton Film Permit is only required for professional film projects when the project is in the public rights-of-way, on or within any City-owned property, or when special assistance is needed from City staff, such as for street closures or pyrotechnics. The Film Permit is recommended for any filming that involves stunts, exotic animals, camera cars, aircraft, combat, large casts, or other unusual circumstances. It is also recommended when filming will occur on private property that may be disruptive to the community in any way, such as parking issues or excessive noise. The City does not charge a fee for the Film Permit.

To obtain a Film Permit, the City will require: 1) a certificate of insurance that names the City as an additional insured; 2) proof of workers compensation coverage; and 3) a map of the area(s) proposed for filming. Apply for a permit by email to Keith.Klein@CityofDayton.org or by fax to (937) 333-4266.

The Film Permit should be submitted at least thirty (30) days in advance. Additional permits may be required by local law. Customary charges will apply for City services and any other required permits. The City's assistance may include fire safety inspections, traffic control, or escorted entry onto public property.

News organizations and individual citizens are not required to have a permit, unless special assistance is needed on-site during filming. Certain requirements may be waived for supervised student projects. The City of Dayton shall be held harmless from any liability associated with a film permit. Any reference to the "City of Dayton" and/or use of official City logos or any derivation thereof on film requires written approval.
